

NJM Donates 300 Meals to Overnight Medical Staff at Capital Health Regional Medical Center – Hopewell

To thank frontline workers for their courageous service to our community during this public health emergency, NJM donated 300 meals to the entire overnight staff at Capital Health Regional Medical Center – Hopewell. The meals were purchased from three restaurants local to the West Trenton office - Mamma Flora's, PJ's Pancake House and Salerno's III.

Below is a portion of a message from NJM that was posted on Capital Health's intranet, and some photos taken during the meal delivery.

NJM is so very grateful for the courage, dedication and caring each and every one of you has shown throughout this ongoing public health emergency. We cannot thank you enough for all your efforts on behalf of those community members who have been affected. As a token of our heartfelt appreciation, we are pleased to have meals delivered by local restaurants to the Hopewell Campus. It is also so fitting that National Nurses Week is being celebrated at this time. We admire all those who have chosen this noble calling. Thank you again to the entire Capital Health Team for rising to the challenge during this unprecedented time.
